

THE FLAAT DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARD

The Flaate Distinguished Teaching Award is given annually to a Concordia College faculty member in order to recognize excellence in teaching. The award carries a $1,000 per annum cash prize for three years. Because fine teaching is found in areas such as libraries, Global Seminars, music studios, coaching assignments, and laboratories as well as classrooms, all faculty who serve in these environments are eligible for the Flaate Distinguished Teaching Award.

Nomination Process: Concordia students, alumni, emeriti faculty, and faculty may nominate a faculty member for this award. In order to nominate a person for the Flaate Distinguished Teaching Award, you must submit a nomination packet in support of your candidate. A nomination packet must consist of a maximum of four letters of support and the curriculum vita of the nominee. Of the four letters of support, one letter must be from a faculty member; two letters from students (at least one of whom must be a current student); one letter from a current student, former student, current faculty member, or former faculty member.

The letters of support may address the following five questions:

- How does this faculty member motivate students to reach their potential?
- How does this faculty member demonstrate respect for and interest in students?
- How does this faculty member successfully practice the art of teaching?
- How does this faculty member show a love of learning as well as of teaching?
- What other qualities caused you to nominate this faculty member?

An award nomination can remain active for up to three years (two nomination cycles). Addenda to the original nomination packet for cycle two are encouraged but not required for full consideration. Following two award cycles, a new nomination packet will be necessary for future consideration. While retiring and retired faculty are eligible to be nominated, their nomination will not stay active beyond the year of nomination.

Deadline for submission of nomination packet: March 5, 2020

Submit nomination packet to the Professional Growth Committee, c/o Dawn Rude, Office of Academic Affairs (or e-mail complete packet to drude@cord.edu).
