SEPT. 14 LEGACY OF LEADERSHIP

EDWARD "ED" SCHAFER'S wide range of experience in business, politics and education include working at his family's firm, the Golden Seal Company, one of North Dakota's largest privately held companies. Schafer also served as the 30th governor of North Dakota, as the United States Secretary of Agriculture and as interim president of the University of North Dakota.

Schafer will reflect on his legacy and the role that faith has played in his leadership journey.

NOV. 9 SPIRITUAL LEADERSHIP

DR. LONNIE PEDERSON is director of the Master of Arts in Leadership (MAL) Program for the University of Jamestown, located at the new Graduate Center in Fargo. She brings more than 20 years of various nonprofit leadership experience into the classroom as a faculty member including human services, healthcare and higher education (including Concordia College 1997-2011).

Pederson interviewed several leaders in our community and will share insights about their journeys at the intersection of faith and leadership.

OCT. 12 PUBLIC INSTITUTIONAL LEADERSHIP IN CHALLENGING TIMES

DR. PHILIP E. AUSTIN was the 13th president of the University of Connecticut, serving from 1996-2007. He held chancellorships in the University of Alabama and the Colorado State University systems, and served as provost and vice president for Academic Affairs at Baruch College in New York. He's also held leadership posts in Washington, D.C., and served in the U.S. Army.

Austin will share his experiences at the nexus of values, ethics and leadership.
